Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Enrollment counts include all beneficiaries, including those with invalid or missing Basis of Eligibility (BOE).

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A2.2. MEDICAID ENROLLMENT TRENDS, 2004-2013

Sources: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2004-2013; U.S. Census Bureau.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Enrollment counts include all beneficiaries, including those with invalid or missing Basis of Eligibility (BOE).

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: Institutionalized beneficiaries include those receiving Medicaid-covered services in nursing homes, intermediate care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities, mental hospitals for the aged, or inpatient psychiatric facilities for those under age 21 at any time in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information in trends presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A2.10. MEDICAID BENEFICIARIES RECEIVING ONLY RESTRICTED MEDICAID BENEFITS IN 2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: Table A2.10 includes only beneficiaries who received restricted Medicaid benefits during their entire period of enrollment in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

NR = not reported.

'-' = state did not have any enrollment in this benefit type in 2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2008-2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; - = state either did not have any beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care or FFS beneficiaries in 2008, 2010, 2012, and/or 2013.

The following Current Price Index was used to adjust expenditures: U.S. City Average, All Urban Consumer, Medical Care Series Total (CUUR0000SAM) (U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics).

FFS beneficiaries represented less than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A3.4. MEDICAID EXPENDITURE TRENDS AMONG FULL-BENEFIT BENEFICIARIES IN UNADJUSTED DOLLARS, 2008-2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2008-2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; - = state either did not have any beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care or FFS beneficiaries in 2008, 2010, 2012, and/or 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A3.10. MEDICAID FEE-FOR-SERVICE (FFS) EXPENDITURES AMONG FFS BENEFICIARIES, BY TYPE OF SERVICE

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

NOTES: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS.

Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A3.12. MEDICAID FEE-FOR-SERVICE (FFS) EXPENDITURES AMONG FFS BENEFICIARIES, BY TYPE OF SERVICE: CHILDREN

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri. Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represent less than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A3.18. MEDICAID FEE-FOR-SERVICE (FFS) EXPENDITURES AMONG FFS BENEFICIARIES, BY TYPE OF SERVICE: DISABLED

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least part of 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; ICF/IID = intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities; Inp Psych = inpatient psychiatric; MH = mental hospital; NF = nursing facility.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri. Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; ICF/IID = intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities; Inp Psych = inpatient psychiatric; MH = mental hospital; NF = nursing facility; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Res = residential. To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total. FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

TABLE A4.4. HOME- AND COMMUNITY-BASED SERVICE EXPENDITURES (FFS ONLY) AMONG FFS BENEFICIARIES IN 2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Res = residential; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Psych = psychiatric; PT/OT = physical therapy/occupational therapy/speech/hearing; Rehab = rehabilitation.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

TABLE A4.5. PHYSICIAN AND OTHER AMBULATORY SERVICE UTILIZATION (FFS ONLY) AMONG FFS BENEFICIARIES IN 2013

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; DME = durable medical equipment; Lab = laboratory.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS beneficiaries = full-benefit beneficiaries who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; DME = durable medical equipment; Lab = laboratory; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; ICF/IID = intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities; Inp Psych = inpatient psychiatric; MH = mental hospital; NF = nursing facility; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Utilization in this appendix table shows only Medicaid utilization.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; ICF/IID = intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities; Inp Psych = inpatient psychiatric; MH = mental hospital; NF = nursing facility; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Expenditures in this appendix table show only Medicaid expenditures.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transitions resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Res Care = residential care.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Utilization in this appendix table shows only Medicaid utilization.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A4.12. HOME- AND COMMUNITY-BASED SERVICE EXPENDITURES (FFS ONLY) AMONG FFS DUALS IN 2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Res Care = residential care; - = state did not have any users of this type of service in 2013.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Expenditures in this appendix table show only Medicaid expenditures.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A4.13. PHYSICIAN AND OTHER AMBULATORY SERVICE UTILIZATION (FFS ONLY) AMONG FFS DUALS IN 2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; Psych = psychiatric; PT/OT = physical therapy/occupational therapy/speech/hearing; Rehab = rehabilitation.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Utilization in this appendix table shows only Medicaid utilization.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee-for-service; FFS duals = full-benefit duals who never enrolled in comprehensive Medicaid managed care plans (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; DME = durable medical equipment; Lab = laboratory.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Utilization in this appendix table shows only Medicaid utilization.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Some services are covered by Medicare for duals. Expenditures in this appendix table show only Medicaid expenditures.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. FFS beneficiaries represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and Missouri.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); PHP = prepaid health plan; PCCM = primary care case management; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries who had full benefits for at least one month in 2013. Individuals may be enrolled in more than one type of plan in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Totals will not add up to 100 percent because individuals may be enrolled in several managed care plan types. MAX also includes the option for states to report enrollment in prenatal prepaid health plans, but no state reported enrollment in this plan type in 2013. BHO = behavioral health organization; HMO/HIO = health maintenance organization or health insuring organization; LTC = institutional long-term care; PACE = Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly; PCCM = primary care case management; other managed care = other prepaid health plans, including non-emergency transportation and disease management plans, that were reported by the state as "Other" in MSIS or T-MSIS.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries eligible for Medicaid full benefits for at least one month in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); BHO = behavioral health organization; PCCM = primary care case management; other managed care = prepaid health plans other than dental, BHO, or institutional long-term care plans, including non-emergency transportation and disease management plans designated as "other" by the state in MSIS or T-MSIS; other combinations = a combination of long-term care managed care and other managed care.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

TABLE A5.6. COMPREHENSIVE MANAGED CARE ENROLLMENT TRENDS AMONG FULL-BENEFIT BENEFICIARIES BY BASIS OF ELIGIBILITY, 2006-2013

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2006-2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries eligible for Medicaid full benefits for at least one month in 2013; '-' = percent change could not be calculated because there were 0 comprehensive managed care enrollees in this basis of eligibility group in 2006.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Individuals enrolled in any managed care during 2013 are reported to one of three groups: ever enrolled in comprehensive managed care, enrolled in a PHP only or in a PHP and PCCM only, or enrolled in a PCCM only. Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries eligible for Medicaid full benefits for at least one month in 2013; PCCM = primary care case management; PHP = prepaid health plan, including dental, behavioral, long-term care, and other plans.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were rounded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2006-2013.
 Notes: PHP = prepaid health plan, including dental, behavioral, long-term care; full-benefit beneficiaries = beneficiaries eligible for Medicaid full benefits for at least one month in 2013; BHO = behavioral health organization; PCCM = primary care case management; LTC = institutional long-term care; '-' = percent change could not be calculated because there were 0 enrollees in this PHP type in 2006.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.
 Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.
 Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A5.9. AVAILABILITY OF CAPITATED PAYMENTS AND ENCOUNTER DATA IN 2013, BY TYPE OF PLAN AND BASIS OF ELIGIBILITY (BOE)

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2. Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

TABLE A5.10. CAPITATED PAYMENTS IN 2013, BY TYPE OF PLAN

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); PHP = prepaid health plan, including dental, behavioral, long-term care, and other plans; PCCM = primary care case management; '!' = percentage could not be calculated because state reported $0 in total capitated payments in 2013; 'NA' = percentage not applicable because state did not report any enrollment in this plan type in 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Oregon reported PCCM capitation claims for individuals without PCCM enrollment in 2013.

Wisconsin incorrectly reported PHP (transportation) capitation payments as comprehensive managed care capitation payments in 2013.

^a Capitation payments were reported for only 50 to 75 percent of beneficiaries enrolled in this plan type in 2013

^b Capitation payments were reported for only 25 to 50 percent of beneficiaries enrolled in this plan type in 2013.

^c Capitation payments were reported for less than 25 percent of beneficiaries enrolled in this plan type in 2013.

Notes: FFS = fee for service; Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); ILTC = institutional long-term care; RX = prescription drugs; other = all services other than inpatient, ILTC, and RX; 'NA' = not applicable because state did not have any comprehensive managed care enrollment in 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 25 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, and Washington in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 25 and 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Georgia, Indiana, Nevada, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin in 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); FFS = fee for service; 'NA' = not applicable because state did not have any comprehensive managed care enrollment for this eligibility group in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were rounded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table.

For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A5.12. ENROLLMENT AND AVERAGE EXPENDITURES AMONG FULL-BENEFIT BENEFICIARIES ENROLLED IN COMPREHENSIVE MANAGED CARE IN 2013

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2. Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented fewer than 25 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Arizona, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, and Washington in 2013.

FFS beneficiaries represented between 25 and 50 percent of all full-benefit beneficiaries in Georgia, Indiana, Nevada, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin in 2013.

Inpatient service class includes inpatient hospital services. ILTC service class includes inpatient psychiatric services for people under 21 and services provided in nursing facilities, institutional care facilities for individuals with intellectual disabilities, and mental hospitals for the aged. Drugs service class includes prescription drugs. HCBS service class includes residential care, home health, personal care services, adult day care, private-duty nursing, and hospice care. Ambulatory service class includes physician, outpatient hospital, clinic, dental, nurse practitioners, other practitioners, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, rehabilitation, and psychiatric services. Wraparound service class includes laboratory and X-ray services, durable medical equipment, transportation, targeted case management, and other services. Includes all full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries in comprehensive managed care in 2013, including beneficiaries who were also enrolled in prepaid health plans.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

TABLE A5.16. MEDICAID COMPREHENSIVE MANAGED CARE ENROLLEES WITH ANY ENCOUNTER DATA IN 2013, BY SERVICE CLASS: AGED

Source: Medicaid Analytic Extract 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); ILTC = institutional long-term care; HCBS = home- and community-based services; 'NA' = not applicable because state did not have any full-benefit aged Medicaid beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care in 2013.

Inpatient service class includes inpatient hospital services. ILTC service class includes inpatient psychiatric services for people under 21 and services provided in nursing facilities, institutional care facilities for the mentally retarded, and mental hospitals for the aged. Drugs service class includes prescription drugs. HCBS service class includes residential care, home health, personal care services, adult day care, private-duty nursing, and hospice care. Ambulatory service class includes physician, outpatient hospital, clinic, dental, nurse practitioners, other practitioners, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, rehabilitation, and psychiatric services. Wraparound service class includes laboratory and X-ray services, durable medical equipment, transportation, targeted case management, and other services.

Includes all full-benefit aged Medicaid beneficiaries in comprehensive managed care in 2013, including beneficiaries who were also enrolled in prepaid health plans.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); rehabilitation = rehabilitation services; PT/OT = physical therapy, occupational therapy, or speech therapy; DME = durable medical equipment; 'NA' = not applicable because state did not have any full-benefit child Medicaid beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care in 2013.

Includes all full-benefit child Medicaid beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care in 2013, including beneficiaries who were also enrolled in prepaid health plans.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were rounded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

TABLE A5.18. PERCENTAGE OF MEDICAID COMPREHENSIVE MANAGED CARE ENROLLEES WITH ANY ENCOUNTER DATA FOR AMBULATORY OR WRAPAROUND SERVICES IN 2013, BY SERVICE CLASS: CHILDREN

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2. Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Comprehensive managed care = HMO (health maintenance organization), HIO (health insuring organization), or PACE (Program of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly); DME = durable medical equipment; 'NA' = not applicable because state did not have any full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries enrolled in comprehensive managed care in 2013.

Includes all full-benefit Medicaid beneficiaries in comprehensive managed care in 2013, including beneficiaries who were also enrolled in prepaid health plans.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans.

PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Vermont, and Wyoming had PACE plans in 2013, but did not have HMO or HIO plans. PACE plans target different populations than HMO and HIO plans, and managed care statistics in these states may differ from those in states with HMO or HIO plans.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

Notes: Dual eligibles = enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare for at least one month in 2013.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Dual enrollment may be undercounted in Hawaii, Missouri, and Wisconsin in 2013. Please see the 2013 MAX Anomaly Tables for further detail.

^a Includes individuals whose original reason for Medicare entitlement was either 'disabled' or 'disabled with end-stage renal disease.'

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Dual enrollment may be undercounted in Hawaii, Missouri, and Wisconsin in 2013. Please see the 2013 MAX Anomaly Tables for further detail.

Notes: Duals = enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare for at least one month in 2013; full-benefit dual = received full Medicaid benefits in the beneficiary's last quarter of dual eligibility in 2013.

Comprehensive managed care = HMO or PACE; PCCM = primary care case management; PHP = prepaid health plan.

Duals are reported to one of three mutually exclusive managed care categories; any comprehensive managed care enrollment (HMO, HIO, or PACE); PHP or PHP and PCCM; or PCCM-only.

Notes: Duals = enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare for at least one month in 2013; full-benefit dual = received full Medicaid benefits in the beneficiary's last quarter of dual eligibility in 2013; FFS duals = full-benefit dual eligibles who never enrolled in a comprehensive Medicaid managed care plan (HMOs or PACE) in 2013; Annualized expenditures = total expenditures divided by person-years enrollment

TABLE A6.5. MEDICAID FEE-FOR-SERVICE (FFS) EXPENDITURES AMONG FFS DUALS IN 2013, BY BASIS OF ELIGIBILITY

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Dual enrollment may be undercounted in Hawaii, Missouri, and Wisconsin in 2013. Please see the 2013 MAX Anomaly Tables for further detail.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

FFS duals represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit duals in California and Utah.

FFS duals represented less than 50 percent of all full-benefit duals in Arizona, Delaware, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, New Jersey, Oregon, Tennessee, and Texas.

Notes: Duals = enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare for at least one month in 2013; full-benefit dual = received full Medicaid benefits in the beneficiary's last quarter of dual eligibility in 2013; FFS duals = full-benefit dual eligibles who never enrolled in a comprehensive Medicaid managed care plan (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Dual enrollment may be undercounted in Hawaii, Missouri, and Wisconsin in 2013. Please see the 2013 MAX Anomaly Tables for further detail.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

FFS duals represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit duals in California and Utah.

FFS duals represented less than 50 percent of all full-benefit duals in Arizona, Delaware, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, New Jersey, Oregon, Tennessee, and Texas.

Notes: Duals = enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare for at least one month in 2012; full-benefit dual = received full Medicaid benefits in the beneficiary's last quarter of dual eligibility in 2013; FFS duals = full-benefit dual eligibles who never enrolled in a comprehensive Medicaid managed care plan (HMO, HIO, or PACE) in 2013; IP = inpatient; ILTC = institutional long-term care; Rx = prescription drug; Other = all services other than IP, ILTC, and Rx.

To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Dual enrollment may be undercounted in Hawaii, Missouri, and Wisconsin in 2013. Please see the 2013 MAX Anomaly Tables for further detail.

New Hampshire began enrolling all Medicaid beneficiaries in new comprehensive managed care program in December 2013; enrollment was not reported in MAX 2013.

FFS duals represented between 50 and 75 percent of all full-benefit duals in California and Utah.

FFS duals represented less than 50 percent of all full-benefit duals in Arizona, Delaware, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, New Jersey, Oregon, Tennessee, and Texas.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Section 1115 expansion enrollees include individuals who were enrolled under a Section 1115 demonstration program and who were otherwise not eligible for Medicaid in 2013. These individuals are assigned to Maintenance Assistance Status code 5.

Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Missouri, Nevada, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, and Vermont had active Section 1115 waivers in 2013 that were not fully reported in MAX 2013.

Texas maintained a Section 1115 expansion family planning waiver through 2012; however, the state continued to report Section 1115 expansion enrollees in 2013.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

Florida, Maine, Nebraska, and Texas had active Section 1915(b) waivers in 2013 that were not fully reported in MAX.

Florida had an active Section 1915(b)(c) waiver in 2013 that was not fully reported in MAX.

Florida reported one Section 1915(c) waiver and two Section 1915(b)(c) waivers as a Section 1915(b) waiver in part of the year in MAX 2013 due to a system error.

Maine reported one Section 1915(c) waiver as a Section 1915(b) waiver in MAX 2013 due to a system error.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

'-' = state did not have a Section 1115 Family Planning waiver in 2013 or did not report Family Planning waiver enrollment in MAX 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Oregon had an active Section 1115 Family Planning waiver in 2013 that was not reported in MAX 2013.

Rhode Island had an active Section 1115 Family Planning waiver in 2013 that was reported as a Section 1115 demonstration waiver in MAX 2013.

Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Table A7.6 is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

HCBS = Home and Community Based Services; '-' = state did not have this type of HCBS waiver in 2013 or did not report HCBS waiver enrollees for this waiver type in MAX 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Individuals may be reported to more than one HCBS waiver during the year. Tables A7.7a and A7.7b present the most recent waiver enrollment reported for each HCBS waiver enrollee in MAX 2013. Table A7.7b shows enrollment and expenditures for HCBS waivers that target individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, individuals who are technology dependent/medically fragile, and unknown/unspecified populations.

Enrollment in individual HCBS waiver types is undercounted in Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, and North Carolina as many of their HCBS waivers are reported as HCBS waivers for unknown or unspecified populations in 2013. Further detail is available in the MAX 2013 Waiver Crosswalk.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Tables A7.7a and A7.7b is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS waiver claims were not fully reported in MAX 2013 for Maine, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were rounded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

HCBS = Home and Community Based Services; '-' = state did not have this type of HCBS waiver in 2013 or did not report HCBS waiver enrollees for this waiver type in MAX 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Individuals may be reported to more than one HCBS waiver during the year. Tables A7.7c and A7.7d present the most recent waiver enrollment reported for each HCBS waiver enrollee in MAX 2013. Table A7.7d shows enrollment and expenditures for HCBS waivers that target individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, individuals who are technology dependent/medically fragile, and unknown/unspecified populations.

Enrollment in individual HCBS waiver types is undercounted in Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, and North Carolina as many of their HCBS waivers are reported as HCBS waivers for unknown or unspecified populations in 2013. Further detail is available in the MAX 2013 Waiver Crosswalk.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Tables A7.7c and A7.7d is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS waiver claims were not fully reported in MAX 2013 for Maine, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Individuals may be reported to more than one HCBS waiver during the year. Tables A7.7c and A7.7d present the most recent waiver enrollment reported for each HCBS waiver enrollee in MAX 2013. Table A7.7c shows enrollment and expenditures for HCBS waivers that target aged individuals and individuals with physical disabilities, brain injury, or HIV/AIDS.

Enrollment in individual HCBS waiver types is undercounted in Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, and North Carolina as many of their HCBS waivers are reported as HCBS waivers for unknown or unspecified populations in 2013. Further detail is available in the MAX 2013 Waiver Crosswalk.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Tables A7.7c and A7.7d is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS waiver claims were not fully reported in MAX 2013 for Maine, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

HCBS = Home and Community Based Services; FFS = fee-for-service; '-' = state did not have any HCBS waiver enrollment in 2013 or did not report HCBS waiver enrollees in MAX 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Medicaid beneficiaries who used any FFS HCBS in 2013, including HCBS waiver services and HCBS through the State Plan, are included in total counts of HCBS users.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Table A7.8 is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS waiver claims were not fully reported in MAX 2013 for Maine, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

Notes: To protect privacy, state counts representing fewer than 11 people were recoded to 11 for the state count. If only one state had a count of fewer than 11, a value of 11 was added to the U.S. total.

HCBS = Home and Community Based Services; '-' = state did not have any HCBS waiver service users in this category in 2013 or did not report HCBS waiver service users in this category in MAX 2013.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Section 1915(c) users include all Medicaid beneficiaries who used HCBS at some point in 2013. HCBS may be provided to some individuals who were not reported as HCBS waiver enrollees, resulting in greater numbers of users than HCBS waiver enrollees in some states. Table A7.9b includes services provided in additional HCBS waiver taxonomy categories. Individuals may use several services during a year.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Table A7.8 is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS = Home and Community Based Services.

Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, and Rhode Island transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS reporting in 2013 or earlier. The transitions resulted in shifts in trends for several eligibility and/or claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Alaska, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in 2013 or later and historically reported retroactive and/or corrective eligibility segments to MSIS. Because of T-MSIS reporting requirements, retroactive and correction records are not included for all of 2013, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Montana and Wisconsin transitioned from MSIS to T-MSIS in January 2014. The transition resulted in shifts in the trends for several claims data fields, which may affect the information presented in this table. For additional state-specific information, see Chapter 1, Table 1.2.

Section 1915(c) users include all Medicaid beneficiaries who used HCBS at some point in 2013. HCBS include services provided via HCBS waivers in MAX 2013. These services may be provided to some individuals who were not reported as HCBS waiver enrollees, resulting in greater numbers of users than HCBS waiver enrollees in some states. Table A7.10b includes services provided in additional HCBS waiver taxonomy categories. Individuals may use several services during a year.

Arizona, Hawaii, Iowa, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Vermont provided HCBS through Section 1115 waivers in 2013.

California, Florida, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin did not fully report one or more active HCBS waivers in MAX in 2013. For these states, HCBS waiver enrollment presented in Table A7.10a and A7.10b is incomplete.

Florida, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania maintained Section 1915(b)(c) waivers in 2013. These programs place enrollees in managed care programs that include HCBS.

HCBS waiver claims were not fully reported in MAX 2013 for Maine, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.
